

- 1 The question was asked why there are more myocarditis complications in young males.
- 2 I would suggest a simple mechanism.
- 3 Likely that young males with better developed muscles have likely more blood vessels in the deltoid muscle.
- 4 I don't know how but probably this could be able to be checked easily [ultrasound, CT scan, MMR . other techniques?]